The PCA Web Site Has Moved

Have you seen the new web site recently? If not, take a trip over to www.plasticvilleusa.org. The content has been expanded with the addition of over 75 more pictures to the Individual Items section. More importantly, the organization and infrastructure has been greatly improved. The old version of the web site was stretched to its limits in terms of server space and thus Joe wasn't able to expand it further.

In January of 2002, the PCA signed up with www.omnistarhosting.net to provide us with enough server space and lots of nitty-gritty technical goodies to give us a solid foundation upon which to redesign our site. This is a prime example of your PCA dues at work for you.

When you first go to the site, you are welcomed by a PCA logo and are asked to clink to enter the site. Then you can see the new organization more clearly. A navigation bar has been added to the left side of the screen. The navigation bar makes it easier to get where you want to go. No longer do you need to wait for the entire first page to load! Now you can quickly get to the Plasticville items, or the Littletown site, the Storytown site, PCA Information, Contact page and lots more.

We have plenty of space to grow as well. As information and time becomes available, we will add pages for other manufacturers such as Marx, and for HO and N scale Plasticville as well. Feel free to make comments and suggestions on the web site. Just send them to webmaster@plasticvilleusa.org

Presidential Ponderings

Welcome to the second edition of your PCA newsletter, "The Villager." Those of you who have been with the PCA for a while may remember the newsletter that I used to occasionally send via e-mail. Those newsletters were not scheduled but served as a simple, effective way to get information to the group. Now that "The Villager" is in full swing, I am going to discontinue the email newsletters and instead provide tidbits of PCA news and general comments in this column.

Trade On! The Plasticville Trader is doing very well and is now supplanted by the 3 FREE ads each member receives in every issue of "The Villager." If you're not familiar with the "Plasticville Trader" it's simply a page on the PCA web site where members can have their wanted, for sale, and for trade ads listed for free (click on "Information and Stories" in the navigation bar and then on "Plasticville Trader").

Some people have had great success with the Trader and others have had their ads there for a while! Either way, it's a great resource for the Plasticville collector community and hey, it's free. Stop by today to see the new listings and directions for how to submit your own.

Hit me! As I'm writing this, the Web Site counter tells me that we are closing in on 10,000 visitors to the Plasticville home page/PCA web site. This counter has been in operation since April of 1997. A little math says that's about 2000 visitors per year but actually the bulk of those hits have come within the last 2-3 years. Feel free to add a link to the PCA site on your home page or business Speaking page. of links, you may notice the new "Links and Sponsors" page on the site. Anyone who advertises in "The Villager" automatically gets listed on this page of the web site. That's quite a bit for your advertising dollar! The links section is limited by design. I didn't want to have lots of meaningless links but prefer to have only a few choice links to sites that the PCA feels may be of benefit to its members. We are a bit at odds here because we want to promote advertising in "The Villager" and thus not give free advertising on the site. So, the links will be limited to information and notfor-profit sites as much as possible. I have added a link for the Plastic Village Gazette, even though it's a business, because the Gazette is such an important part of Plasticville collecting community. Everyone interested in Plasticville should know about and subscribe to the Gazette! Another current link is for the Tinplate Marxists site. This is an interesting site dedicated to Marx trains and accessories. You can find pictures of Marx buildings on > this site and is one of the reasons why I have been so slow to develop the Marx page on the PCA site. Check them out. You will find lots of interesting information.

> Thank You! I just want to take the opportunity to thank everyone who has sent questions, information, and pictures to me recently.

Thanks to Mike Gural and Doug Gilliatt for sending me some great pictures!

Thanks to Bob Coniglio for that great story about his "Trip to Plasticville" in the first edition of "The Villager."

Thanks to Fred

Ruby for advice and comments on the design of the new web site. Fred saw some of the beta versions of the site and helped me to get some things straightened out and looking better. John Niehaus and Doug Gilliatt also proved helpful comments on site development.

Thanks to John Niehaus for all of his hard work as the Secretary-Treasurer of the PCA! John puts in a lot of effort to keep the PCA running smoothly and calmly puts up with my endless comments. John also edits "The Villager" all by himself, including making all of the calls to prospective advertisers.

Thanks to Mike Murphy for a recent series of e-mails regarding the boxes used for the new edition Plasticville items (look for more information on this in the next issue).

Thanks to Ronald Schlicht for an e-mail describing some Marx figures. Ronald has a layout featuring over 1700 people! You can see some pictures of his site by going to http://www.trainweb.org/bsg and clicking on members and then on his name.

One last item. Thanks to Brady Burge for sending links on the new K-Line buildings to the Plasticville Group at Yahoo!

Groups. K-Line has come out with two versions of older buildings in a new format. They have the colonial house but have placed it on a resin base and included details like a smoking chimney, lighted interior, and a moving swing set in the front yard. They also have a new version of the old Marx factory which also features moving parts. Look for Brady's message if you're a member of the Yahoo! Group or search around at http://k-linetrains.com accessories and then buildings. It's not an easy site to navigate but it's worth the trouble to see these new offerings. It's great to see that K-Line is on the ball and thinking of new items for the fans of plastic villages. The new items should be available in Spring 2002 (that's now). Please let us know if you see any around and if you purchase one, we would love to hear what you think!

Cathedral Census

CATHEDRAL

One of the goals of the PCA is to create a census that is as comprehensive as possible of the variations in each item produced by Bachmann. Let's start with an item that has few variations and see how it goes. Should we be successful with this unit then we will address another one in the next issue of The Villager. This will be an ongoing project but with a great reward if we persevere.

The cathedral seems like a good place to start. There are three items numbers assigned to the O scale cathedral, C-18, 1904, and 45981 plus the HO and N scale numbers. Please send the HO and N scale numbers and information to the editor as well so that they can be included in the census.

Here are the some of the questions we will need answered in order to put together a comprehensive listing. What color are the sides and roof of your units? Is there a difference in the color or pattern on the front doors of the various numbered units? Is there a difference in the color or pattern of the "stained glass" windows of the various numbered units? Are the names printed in the same weight on all boxes of the same item number? (It is known that the 1814 Switch Towers came in boxes with either standard or bold printing on them.)

Should we be able to answer these questions, then we are on our way to creating a database for Plasticville pieces that will rival any other for completeness.

There is a census form near the end of this newsletter. Please complete it and send it to the Plasticville Collectors Association, Cathedral Census, 601 SE Second Street, Ankeny, Iowa 50021-3207.

Proposed Grading Standards

As with all other groups of collectors, it is the responsibility of the group to create a set of standards for describing the items encompassed by that group's bylaws. The standards below are the proposed grading standards for both plastic village pieces and the package in which they were purchased.

These standards will be considered accepted by the general membership as of July 1, 2002 unless suggested changes are communicated to the Grading Standards Committee. Please address all comments to: villagereditor@plasticvilleusa.org. Include the words Grading Standards Comments in the title of your message if you are commenting by email. Please address all "snail mail" comments to Grading Standards Committee, Plasticville Collectors Association, 601 SE Second Street, Ankeny, Iowa 50021-3207. All messages received will be made available to the entire Grading Standards Committee for consideration.

Introduction

The following grading standards are to be used when describing the condition of Plasticville or other plastic village items, their boxes, catalogs, and other paper items. Missing or broken parts must always be stated in addition to the classification. Presence of any known reproduction parts or use of parts from other kits to complete a set must be stated.

ANY GRADING SYSTEM IS OPEN TO INTERPRETATION. It is the responsibility of the seller when selling to PCA members (and ideally to everyone) to strictly use these grading guidelines and let the buyer determine if they are too conservative for the item in question.

HELP WANTED! The Villager is searching for members to write articles on buildings manufactured by companies other than Plasticville. Please contact the Secretary if you would like to submit an article for this column. Illustrations or photos to enhance the article will be greatly appreciated. All articles received by the Secretary will be acknowledged with a sheet of personalized PCA address labels.

How Can You Help Grow the PCA

The PCA membership is growing. There is no doubt about that. Just look at the list of new and proposed members in this newsletter. All of them have joined since the publication of the January issue of The Villager.

Here are a few ideas how each of us can help grow the PCA.

- Are there any train meets that you attend? Take a few PCA membership applications to the next train meet you attend. Odds are that the promoter of the meet will gladly let you place them on his literature table.
- Are there any hobby shops in your area? Call and ask the Manager/Owner if you may visit with him about the PCA. Take copies of The Villager, along with some PCA applications, when you go for your visit. It is possible that the shop personnel may know of Plasticville collectors in the area and will offer to give those people an application the next time they visit the store.

- Are you a seller on e-Bay? Why not add a note to your auction descriptions inviting those who view your items to join the PCA if you are a seller. Include a membership application in the package when you send an item to an auction winner. It probably would not cost you anything but it may entice the buyer into joining the PCA.
- Are you a buyer on e-Bay? Why not include a membership application with your payment when you mail your payments to sellers.
- Do you communicate through email? Most email programs allow you to add a "signature" to any outgoing emails. This "signature" can, in most cases, be more than just a single line of text. Add an invitation complete with a link to the PCA website to join the PCA as part of this "signature". Here is an example: "Join the fastest growing organization dedicated to collecting plastic village buildings. Visit our web page at http://www.plasticvilleusa.org to view and print a membership application."

Win A Trip To Disneyland

Disneyland, in conjunction with Bachmann Industries created a promotion that included a sticker on the tops of various Plasticville buildings that stated, "Win a Trip to Disneyland". Inside each of these specially marked boxes was an entry blank.

The entry blank contained instructions to complete the last line of a jingle of four lines and where to submit their completed jingle. The contest had a closure date of January 14, 1956.

Let's start a little contest right now. Anyone can enter! Just fill in the last line of the jingle that was on the flyer. The PCA officers will choose the 5 or 10 best ones and then put them out for a poll so everyone can decide the winner. The prize will be a sheet of thirty high quality, laser printed color personal address labels with the PCA logo prominently displayed along with your name and address.

Please send all entries to Plasticville Collectors Association, Disneyland Trip, 601 SE Second Street, Ankeny, Iowa 50021-3207 or you may send an email entry to secretary@plasticvilleusa.org. Please use "Disneyland Trip Entry" as the subject of the message. All entries must be received by April 30, 2002. The winner and runners up will be published in the July edition of The Villager.

Editor's note: Doesn't anyone have a line for this jingle? The amount of entries has been much less than anticipated. Look the jingle over again and submit your entry or entries. We must all be fairly creative or we wouldn't have anything for a train layout but a flat piece of plywood. Give it a go. You have nothing to lose and possibly a sheet of address labels to gain!

Here's the jingle as was written:

The new toys of plastic are my favorite kind Their bright colors make them easy to find They're smooth and they're tough - as real as can be

(fill in the 4th line of the jingle on the line)

Resource Persons Needed

We would like volunteers for the following non-elected PCA positions.

Those who volunteer would be the persons to whom the Officers of the PCA would contact with questions specific to the areas listed. Please let the Secretary know if you would like to be the resource person for any of the listed areas.

Please let us know if there is another manufacturer with which you are familiar that is not listed. As with Jell-O, there is always room for more.

The Smaller Size of Things HO and N Scale Buildings

A person, using the byline Annie Mouse (anony mous) has volunteered to write an article on HO buildings. Look for that article here in the July issue.

Who wants to write an article on N scale buildings? Articles in this section need not be strictly Plasticville. Articles on any manufacturer's HO or N scale items will be welcomed and rewarded with a sheet of personalized PCA return address labels. Yes, even you can use the Annie Mouse byline if you prefer to remain anonymous.

The Villager Mailbox

I received the first ever issue of the Villager the other day and I just have to let you know how much I enjoyed it.

I thought it was great with the history of how the PCA was formed and a little info about our Officers.

The Win A Trip to Disneyland was neat and I hope to get my entry in soon. I shared this with my wife & family who normally stay out of Plasticville and they plan to help me with it.

The Article on the Trip to Plasticville was very enjoyable and bought back many memories.

The one thing I admire the most about the PCA is that it really helps in Collecting and Educating us about the world of Plasticville and Neighboring Villages. I wrote to John Niehaus and thank him for his involvement of helping to get the PCA started and the newsletter.

I am looking forward to his progress on his research project of the various colors of the items matching to the boxes they originally came in. I suggested he talk with a good friend of mine, Jonathan Morse (PCA # 01-21), a very knowledgeable person about Plasticville boxes.

I also can't stop telling people about the PCA & the Plastic Village Gazette. Every time I have an opportunity to share Plasticville with people I speak of the Mayor "Bill Nole", The PCA and The Plastic Village Gazette.

What an education we all can get from these resources. Bill Hunter # 01-25

The intent was to include them with the King Distributing Apartment House back in the early 80's but they didn't make the final cut! Bill Nole has graciously made these shrubs and the NEW, never opened, Add-A-Floors available to the PCA for this promotion and fund-raiser. Now is your chance to own a bit of Plasticville, USA history!

Articles Solicited

The Plasticville Collectors Association needs your help with newsletter content. The editor of The Villager needs your help to assure that this newsletter contains the type of articles you wish to read. The size of the article is unimportant.

Please send articles that you feel will be of interest to the other members to: Plasticville Collectors Association, The Villager editor, 601 SE Second Street, Ankeny, IOWA 50021-3207. You may also submit articles by email to villagereditor@plasticvilleusa.org. Please be sure to include your name and member number so that we can ensure a correct byline on the article.

Now let's make it worthwhile for you to send in an article. The editor of The Villager will send you a sheet of thirty (30) personalized address labels to you for each article received. These are high quality laser printed labels and will have the PCA logo printed in color along with your complete mailing address printed in black.

Roster Corrections

The email address for Arnold Douglas is arnold.douglas@mail1.monmouth.army.mil. The roster erroneously lists it as .mail it is actually .mail1 with the last two characters being the letter L followed by the number 1. Please update your roster listing.

Notes from the Secretary Treasurer

Membership growth:

We now have over 115 paid members! This can be considered nothing less than phenomenal growth considering for a club that is approximately five months old. Applications for membership are still coming in on a regular basis as evidenced by the list of proposed members in this issue. You, the members, must be getting the word out about the club.

Roster Changes:

Please be sure to let me know when you have a change of email address. I sent out a list of proposed members to all of you who are on line and got back four failures. Please send me your current email address if you did not get a list of proposed members from me via email in the last month. Check the roster and let me know if your email address has changed from what is printed there.

Classified Ads:

One of the benefits of membership in the PCA is your FREE classified ads. I am really surprised at how few of you are taking advantage of this benefit. Your only expense is the time it takes to fill it out and the postage to mail it to me. The form is now available on the PCA website and at the Yahoo groups discussion site.

Your free classified ads in The Villager will run for a total of four insertions before being removed. Ads that are over the 50 words free limit will be run based on the amount of payment sent with the ad. The ten cents per word charge for all words over 50 is on a per insertion basis. If you send an ad of 70 words and a payment of $2 that will allow the ad to be run once. A payment of $4 for the same ad will allow the ad to run in two issues.

You can determine the last issue in which your ad will run in by the code in the parenthesis at the end of your ad. The first two digits are the year and the last two digits are the issue for that year. A code of 02-03 would mean that your ad would appear for the last time in the July, 2002 issue of The Villager.

Please contact the editor if you wish your ad removed before its expiration date.

Newsletter Articles:

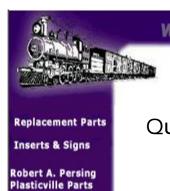

Any magazine depends on input from subscribers to ensure an ongoing magazine. The same is true for an organization's newsletter.

One of the purposes of the PCA is to educate. That can be accomplished only if we share our cumulative knowledge. I am certain that the PCA has experts on the various scales of Plasticville and on other manufacturers' buildings also. Please consider writing an article or articles for publication in this newsletter.

Your editor and the officers have a limited amount of information that can be used in this newsletter. Your support is needed to enable the PCA to publish a newsletter of this size each quarter.

Cathedral Census

I am excited about this census. We members will be counting heavily on the veteran collectors to help us with this endeavor. They are the ones who bought these items new and still have them that way for the most part. My hopes are high.

You may have noticed that the 2001 edition of the Plastic Village Gazette Pocket Price Guide did not have an index. Here courtesy of PCA member John Gottcent and the Plasticville Collectors Association is that missing index.

Just cut along the dashed line, fold in half vertically, and insert into the front of your Plastic Village Gazette Pocket Price Guide with the folded side out. You now have a custom sized index.
